Our wide range of services include engineering, laser cutting, shearing, punching, press brake forming, welding assembly, spot welding, machining, powder coat and wet painting. Our manufacturing center gives us the flexibility to run everything from prototypes to large production runs.

In addition to our custom engineering, we have the flexibility to punch or laser cut a variety of metals with various thickness. Any contract metal fabrication job that your company would prefer to move off site for reasons of space, capacity, capability or cost can be done by SC2 at highly competitive rates.

Precision and consistency are critical for sheet metal fabrication. Our employees, equipment, and technology put us in a class of our own.
